March 16, 2020

Liu Ping, Secretary of the Provincial Party Committee and Head of Provincial Party Committee's Leading group to respond to the Coronavirus epidemic made a three day (March 10-13) visit to Zoige County, Ngaba (in Chinese: Aba) Tibet Prefecture to investigate the grassroots situation and supervise the coronavirus epidemic prevention work and economic and social development of the region. He told the frontline workers of the epidemic to continuously stay alert, maintain pressure, and work to stabilize and expand the hard-won situation. He also visited the ecological project construction site of the Yellow and Yangtze Rivers and reminded them that Ngaba is an important ecological barrier and water conservation area.

He also met grassroots cadres and masses and went village to village and visited all town health centers. He demanded that epidemic prevention and control should be continuously strengthened to safeguard the lives and health of the people.

Liu Ping made a special visit to the monasteries including Sorge monastery, Niba monastery, Dhoezang monastery, and Langmu temple where he told monks to follow the guideline of promoting patriotic love of Tibetan Buddhism and work with local party committees and government in maintaining social stability and long-term peace and stability of the nation. He also listened to the "cadres + monks" management committees and praised their positive contribution to the prevention and control of the epidemic. He further ordered that the monastery be banned for the public and no Buddhist activities should be held. He instead suggested that the monks go to the homes of believers to carry out legal education. He also said, "It is necessary to focus on working principles such as "adapt to socialist society and modernize the governance system," and always adhere to the principle of independence and self-reliance and follow the direction of the Sinicization of the religion. It is necessary further to understand the divisive nature of foreign hostile forces, standardize the operation of the "cadre + monk" management committee, to strengthen the management and guidance of monk education and management committee education, and guide the monks to feel the gratitude of the party and follow the party."

Tibet Daily launched "Tibet Million Serf Liberation Memorial Online Pavilion"

March 20, 2020

As Tibetans in exile and abroad commemorate March 10 as Tibetan National Uprising Day, in China it is called Tibet's Democratic Reform Day, to mark the 61st so-called Democratic Reform. Tibet Daily officially launched the 6-day "Tibet Million Serf Liberation Memorial Online Pavilion" on March 13. Usually, Tibetans from different counties under TAR are taken to Lhasa as part of the re-education campaign, particularly in March. The online exhibition will serve as an online patriotic education base that will strengthen youth moral education, cadres education, and on-site teaching base in TAR. The online exhibition will remain open to the public.

It emphasised that in contrast to the days of serfdom, where the serfs had money and no medical facilities, now under the Party, even during the outbreak of such epidemic like coronavirus, the people were not only provided free medical treatment but the Party members, cadres and doctors sacrificed their lives to save other people. The Chinese Communist Party is using propaganda to win the hearts of people where they keep repeating that 'the source of people's happiness is the CCP.'
